European leaders to join Zelenskyy in Washington as Trump presses Ukraine deal

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy is heading to Washington on Monday to meet with U.S. President Donald Trump, who is pressuring him to accept a swift peace agreement—following Trump’s recent alignment with Moscow after his Alaska meeting with Putin. European leaders including Merz, Macron, Starmer, Meloni, and von der Leyen will join the trip to bolster Zelenskyy’s position and help secure robust U.S. security guarantees—outside NATO—amid proposals for Ukraine to cede Donbas in exchange for a frozen front line. A significant diplomatic effort, but the stakes remain perilously high.

Hamas rejects Israel's Gaza relocation plan

Hamas has rejected Israel’s plan to relocate residents from Gaza City to the southern enclave, branding the deployment of tents and other humanitarian-looking supplies a “new wave of genocide and displacement” and calling it a “blatant deception” masking an impending “brutal crime.” Israel says it is preparing to provide shelter to ensure safety during the relocation from combat zones. The enclave is facing widespread destruction, massive internal displacement, over 61,000 Palestinian deaths reported by Gaza’s health ministry, and a severe hunger crisis. A stark warning of worsening humanitarian conditions—this plan could unleash even greater suffering.

Hurricane Erin grows in size as it barrels towards Caribbean

The National Hurricane Center (NHC) reported that Hurricane Erin—the first hurricane of the 2025 Atlantic season—has intensified into a Category 5 storm, with maximum sustained winds of 160mph (260km/h), currently located about 175 miles northeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico. The storm is expected to turn west-northwest on Saturday night, then head north early next week, gradually weakening starting Monday. Its center is forecast to pass north of the Leeward Islands, the Virgin Islands, and Puerto Rico, but swells are expected to affect the Bahamas, Bermuda, and the U.S. East Coast. A Tropical Storm Watch has been issued for the Turks and Caicos Islands. Meteorologists also warn of heightened wildfire risks given dry and windy conditions.
