👉 Ukraine says it attacked Druzhba oil pipeline in Russia's Bryansk

Ukraine's drone forces commander Robert Brovdi announced that Ukraine attacked Russia's Druzhba oil pipeline in the Bryansk region, inflicting "comprehensive fire damage." The claim was made via Telegram but has not been independently verified, and Russian authorities had not issued a response at the time of reporting. The Druzhba pipeline is one of Russia's main crude oil export routes, making the attack strategically significant amid ongoing conflict.

👉 Japan PM Ishiba resigns after series of bruising election losses

Japanese Prime Minister Shigeru Ishiba announced his resignation on September 7, 2025, prompting an emergency leadership race within the ruling Liberal Democratic Party. His departure follows losses in both parliamentary houses amid public discontent over rising living costs. Ishiba had delayed stepping down to finalize a major trade agreement with the U.S., pledging $550 billion in investments and securing reduced tariffs. Possible successors include Sanae Takaichi and Shinjiro Koizumi.

👉 Bangladesh battles rising tide of dengue and chikungunya

Bangladesh is grappling with a severe surge of mosquito-borne illnesses—dengue and chikungunya—with over 33,800 dengue cases and 132 deaths reported so far this year. In early September alone, more than 1,500 fever cases were hospitalized resulting in at least 10 deaths. Chikungunya is re-emerging, with 785 cases confirmed in Dhaka between January and July and nearly 3,000 cases in Chittagong. Hospitals are overwhelmed, and experts warn that without intensified mosquito control and expanded testing, the crisis may escalate.
