Brazil's ex-president Bolsonaro detained by police over flight risk

Brazil's former president Jair Bolsonaro was detained by federal police after Supreme Court Justice Alexandre de Moraes revoked his house arrest, citing a serious flight risk tied to a planned supporters' vigil outside his home and alleged tampering with his ankle monitor. Bolsonaro, appealing a 27-year coup-plot conviction, was taken to a federal police facility in Brasilia. His lawyers criticized the decision as unconstitutional, while his sons and allies urged supporters to mobilize, vowing to keep fighting politically.

Palestinians inspect the site of an Israeli strike, in Gaza City

Israeli forces launched airstrikes on Gaza in what they say is retaliation for a Hamas gunman who crossed a humanitarian aid route and fired on troops, marking a major test of the Oct. 10 ceasefire. Israel claims to have killed senior Hamas members and other militants in Rafah and northern Gaza. Gaza health officials report at least 24 people killed and 54 wounded, including children, after strikes on a car and several homes. Hamas accuses Israel of undermining the truce.

Ukraine to meet US in Switzerland to discuss ending war

Ukraine will hold consultations with the United States in Switzerland on ways to end Russia's war, after Washington presented a controversial 28-point peace plan. The Ukrainian delegation, led by presidential chief of staff Andriy Yermak and top security officials including Rustem Umerov, will seek to defend Ukraine's sovereignty and security. President Volodymyr Zelenskiy insists any deal must ensure "just" peace and lasting protection from future aggression, amid U.S. pressure to accept the plan by a tight deadline.
